ABOUT MYSELF

Expert consultant on the Common Criteria standard, and other security assurance standards in the field of the information technology. Javier has served as an evaluator in the Spanish CB for the country major evaluation labs. As a consultant, he has successfully accompanied national and international companies in several certification processes (to EAL5+). His experience has led him to participate as a speaker at several conferences on computer security and certification (SuperSec, Cybercamp, Navaja Negra, International Common Criteria Conference, International Cryptographic Module Conference, EUCyberact Conference). He is also Cyber Security lecturer, giving classes of Secure Software Engineering at the University of Granada and is CISSP (Certified Information Systems Security Professional) and OSCP/OSCE (Offensive Security Certified Professional and Certified Expert) certified.

In 2015 he begins to lay the foundations of what will be jtsec, leading the growth of the team in terms of competencies, accreditations and experience until the acquisition of the company by Applus+.

Recognized expert in various disciplines of cybersecurity, assumes the technical direction of most of the projects, directing and organizing the work of the team. He also leads the Research and Development area, encouraging the participation of the jtsec team in multiple Congresses.

Javier has been one of the ENISA appointed experts in the development of the EUCC scheme, leading several working groups and has been the editor of ISO/IEC TS 9569:2023.
